Psycholinguistics (HBA)
Department of Language Studies

Linguistics is the scientific study of human language. It encompasses theories of linguistic structure in all domains: speech sounds (phonetics and phonology), words (morphology), sentences (syntax), meaning (semantics) and conversations (discourse). Psycholinguistics emphasizes biological and psychological factors in language and disorders. This program provides the best preparation for entry into a graduate program such as speech-language pathology and psycholinguistics.
