Did you know that sending resumes in response to job ads is only 1 of 50+ ways to get a job?

- [ ] Use the Resume Building Tool to get your resume ready for anything (uoft.me/resumewriting)
- [ ] Apply to our Job Shadowing program to expand your network (uoft.me/aaccevents)

Are your social media accounts professional-looking enough for a potential boss to look at?

- [ ] Attend our Get Hired Conference in April
- [ ] Look for employer information and networking sessions on CLNx (uoft.me/aaccevents)
- [ ] Practice making conversation at one of our Chat with a Professional events (uoft.me/aaccevents)

Are you comfortable talking about your experiences (school, work, volunteer)?

- [ ] Use the Big Interview tool to practice your interviewing skills (CLNx.utoronto.ca -> Resources -> Career Resources -> Big Interview)

WELL DONE!
You have the tools you need, now you have to use them. Job ads work for only 4-24% of job seekers*, so make a plan to meet people in your industry too!

Now you have to put in the work:
- [ ] Find and apply to job ads
- [ ] Find people to network with and meet them using tools like tenthousandcoffees.com
